Rockport Healthcare Adds 25,000 OptumHealthSM Physical Medicine Specialists

Network expansion enhances access to workers' comp medical care providers for Rockport customers

HOUSTON, TX (July 27, 2010) – Rockport Healthcare Group announced it is adding more than 25,000 OptumHealth physical medicine specialists to its workers' compensation Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) network. The PPO program launched May 1, 2010.

Adding OptumHealth's nationwide network of care providers to Rockport's workers' compensation PPO gives workers enhanced access to best-in-class treatment for their musculoskeletal conditions.

A commitment to understanding local jurisdictions is the hallmark of Rockport's approach and has helped the company steadily expand in a competitive marketplace. The company's network currently includes more than 525,000 care providers, making it one of the largest national networks dedicated to workers' compensation care.

"Our goal is to ensure that we offer our clients access to the best possible array of workers' compensation providers," said Mark Neer, Senior Vice President of Network Development at Rockport. "We are continually striving to grow the specialty areas most frequently utilized in workers' compensation. OptumHealth offers a complete range of specialists along with integrated, personally relevant health guidance and services designed to assist people in their recoveries."

OptumHealth's network includes chiropractors and physical and occupational therapists who understand how to treat workers' comp injuries. They are the keys to a safe, quick return-to-work and ultimately help reduce employers' workers' compensation costs. OptumHealth is a UnitedHealth Group company.
